WELCOME

Livres Canada Books is pleased to present the 2017–2018 edition of the new Rights Canada catalogue!

Ahead of Frankfurt Book Fair 2020 at which Canada will be the Guest of Honour, we are delighted to present the new Rights Canada. Now published once a year, the catalogue will promote an extended list of titles and benefit from increased visibility through a partnership with the online rights platform, IPR License.

Whether published in English, French or other languages in translation, Canadian writers have captured the imagination of millions of readers around the world and their many awards and recognitions are a tribute to that reputation.

Showcasing more than 280 titles, this edition of Rights Canada offers yet more great Canadian fiction, non-fiction, children's books, young adult fiction, and scholarly publications.

Canadian publishers have so much to offer and so many extraordinary stories to share. We encourage you to consult the Livres Canada Books web database for more Canadian titles. Many titles listed in this catalogue are available as ebooks and inventoried online. You can also consult our online calendar of international book fairs at which Canadian publishers are present to arrange meetings in advance.

We know that the outstanding quality and creativity of Canadian publishing represented in this edition of Rights Canada will encourage you to continue working with Canadian publishers.

Happy reading!

BIENVENUE

Livres Canada Books est heureux de vous présenter l'édition 2017-2018 du catalogue Droits du Canada, nouvelle formule !

À l'approche de la Foire du livre de Francfort 2020 au cours de laquelle le Canada sera l'invité d'honneur, nous nous réjouissons que les titres inscrits à Droits du Canada bénéficient d'une visibilité élargie grâce au partenariat avec la plateforme de droits en ligne, IPR License.

Les auteurs canadiens, qu'on les lise en français, en anglais ou dans d'autres langues, réussissent à captiver et stimuler l'imagination des lecteurs du monde entier, et les nombreux prix et reconnaissances qu'ils reçoivent en témoignent.

Mettant en vedette plus de 280 titres, la présente édition du catalogue Droits du Canada offre de nouveaux titres canadiens tout aussi exceptionnels, qu'il s'agisse de romans, de livres de non fiction, de livres pour enfants, de romans jeunes adultes ou de publications savantes.

Les éditeurs canadiens ont tant à offrir et tant de récits extraordinaires à présenter. Nous vous encourageons à consulter la base de données Web de Livres Canada Books pour explorer d'autres titres canadiens. Plusieurs titres inscrits à ce catalogue sont d'ailleurs offerts en formats numériques et sont répertoriés en ligne. Vous pouvez également consulter notre calendrier des foires internationales du livre en ligne auxquelles les éditeurs canadiens participent, afin de planifier une rencontre.

Nous espérons que la qualité exceptionnelle des titres et la créativité des auteurs canadiens annoncés dans la présente édition du catalogue Droits du Canada vous inciteront à continuer de collaborer avec les éditeurs canadiens.

Bonne lecture !

Bad Endings

by Carleigh Baker

Carleigh Baker likes to make light in the dark. Whether plumbing family ties, the end of a marriage, or death itself, she never lets go of the witty, the ironic, and perhaps most notably, the awkward. Despite the title, the resolution in these stories isn't always tragic, but it's often uncomfortable, unexpected, or just plain strange.

Accordéon

by Kaie Kellough

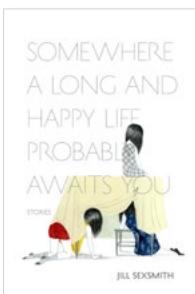

The Ministry of Culture wants to control the flying canoe. Accordéon is the testimony of an anonymous witness. It is a satire in which fantasy and reality are enmeshed, and the past, the present, and the future exist simultaneously. Finalist for the 2017 Amazon First Novel Award.

Somewhere a Long and Happy Life Probably Awaits You

by Jill Sexsmith

Somewhere a Long and Happy Life Probably Awaits You explores the peculiar places we look for validation, a purpose, a life we might recognize as wholly our own. As her off-kilter heroes and heroines struggle with relationships, Sexsmith deftly cuts through raw and intimate moments to show how strangely impervious to their desperate circumstances people can be.

Everything Is Awful and You're a Terrible Person

by Daniel Zomparelli

In these unconventional, interconnected stories, gay men look for love in any way possible. From social media to finding someone within a dream, the ways in which these characters search for joy becomes both limitless and overwhelming. With wry abandon and a beguiling heart, Everything Is Awful is a deadpan, tragicomic exploration of love, desire, and dysfunction in the 21st century.

Oracle Bone

by Lydia Kwa

This extraordinary magic-realist novel by Singapore-born author Lydia Kwa employs and subverts traditional tropes of Chinese mythology to tell a tale with a wickedly modern sensibility. A subversive, magic-realist novel set in seventh-century China featuring ghosts, powerful women, martial arts, and a transformative oracle bone that is coveted by forces both good and evil.

Spark of Light: Short Stories by Women Writers of Odisha

Edited by Valerie Henitiuk and Supriya Kar

Spark of Light is a diverse collection of short stories by women writers from the Indian province of Odisha. Originally written in Odia and dating from the late nineteenth century to the present, these stories offer a multiplicity of voices and capture the predicament of characters who often live on the margins of society.

1979

by Ray Robertson

Tom Buzby is 13 years old and lives in Chatham. Set in the year that real newspaper headlines told of the rise of Reagan and North America's hard turn to the right, 1979 is a novel of innocence not so much lost as smashed, and experience gained the hard way—the kind that brands memories forever and permanently changes lives.

Blue Field

by Elise Levine

Recalling the best of Mary Gaitskill and Lidia Yukavitch, this gripping, tense novel explores the tangled lives of three driven risk-addicts—deeply flawed people bound and propelled and ultimately unraveled by desire, loss, and guilt. The novel's heightened sexual atmosphere and psychological distress immerse the reader in a world of unforgettable depth and darkness.

In the Cage

by Kevin Hardcastle

Daniel is one of the most feared cage fighters in Mixed Martial Arts, closing in on greatness until an injury ruins his career. He and his wife, Sarah, struggle to secure a better life for their daughter, but in this violent and unpredictable world of back-country criminals and county cops, Daniel sparks a conflict that can only be settled in blood.

Rich and Poor

by Jacob Wren

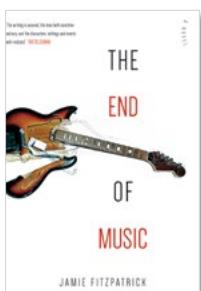

Who hasn't, at one time or another, considered killing a billionaire? Rich and Poor is a novel of a man who washes dishes for a living and decides to kill a billionaire as a political act. It is literature as political theory and theory as pure literary pleasure—a spiralling, fast-paced parable of joyous, overly self-aware, mischievous class warfare.

Révolution !

de Vittorio Frigerio

La révolution est une présence constante dans l'histoire. Les 11 nouvelles de ce recueil en explorent la fascination, les implications, les grandeurs occasionnelles et les misères fréquentes, en suivant les traces de révolutionnaires plus ou moins authentiques, de rebelles avec ou sans cause et de militants idéalistes à travers les époques et les pays. Through the Sad Wood Our Corpses Will Hang

by Ava Farmehri

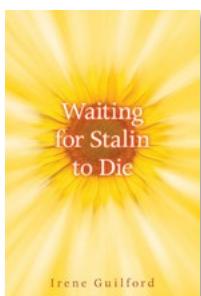

At 20, Sheyda Porrouya's life is almost over. Born in Iran on the day the mullahs declare the birth of the Islamic Republic, she witnesses the purging of all things Western and un-Islamic. Accused of killing her mother, Sheyda is sentenced to death. The narrative jumps back and forth from Sheyda's childhood to life in one of Iran's most notorious prisons.

Egoman

de Serge Marquis

Egoman est bien plus qu'un personnage de super-héros imaginé par Charlot. Bien davantage que le dialogue vivant entre une mère monoparentale et son fils. C'est un roman plein de poésie et de profondeur, un récit touchant, bouleversant et profondément humain.

La femme aux cartes postales

de Claude Paiement et Jean-Paul Eid

La femme aux cartes postales est un récit à clés dans lequel les histoires croisées de Rose, en 1957, et de Victor, en 2002, résonnent l'une en l'autre pour délier les énigmes du passé. Le travail historique remarquable des créateurs plonge le lecteur au cœur d'une époque effervescente, en proie aux changements imminents.

Eyes and Spies: How You're Tracked and Why You Should Know

by Tanya Lloyd Kyi

Eyes and Spies looks at the way information and data is collected and used by individuals, governments, companies, and organizations. Each chapter covers one aspect of the subject, from data collection to computer surveillance and personal privacy. Arguments for both increased security and increased privacy encourage readers to think critically about the issues.

Garage Criticism

by Peter Babiak

Babiak gently eviscerates and deflates cultural hot topics of our time. He deconstructs our fascination with Internet culture and its libertarian ideology, devolves the hallucinations of economics and marketing to rhetorical mystifications, and asserts and reasserts the supremacy of linguistic thinking in everyday cultural affairs no less than politics and philosophy.

Radical Transformation: Oligarchy, Collapse, and the Crisis of Civilization

by Kevin MacKay

Drawing on a vast knowledge of history, human evolution, philosophy, and modern complexity theory, MacKay tells a story that recognizes the marvels of human civilization while revealing its dark tendency towards oligarchic structures of power and exploitation. He then shows us how we can respond to preserve the best while defeating the worst.

Notes From a Feminist Killjoy: Essays on Everyday Life

by Erin Wunker

Erin Wunker brings memoir, theory, literary criticism, pop culture, and feminist thinking together in this collection of essays through which to read the world from a feminist point of view. Neither totemic nor complete, the non-fiction essays attempt to think publicly about why we need feminism—and especially the figure of the feminist killjoy, now.

Au monde: Inventaire

d'Antoine Dumas

« Antoine Dumas recense les grandes beautés et les petites tragédies qui émaillent la marche du monde, du minéral au végétal, sans oublier l'humain. Il déploie une langue inventive et libre, empreinte d'images rares et fortes. L'appétit de l'auteur pour les images magnifiques semble illimité. Les poèmes de Dumas sont nourris d'une langue intarissable aux sonorités chatoyantes. Ce recueil est d'une beauté qui nous hante longtemps après sa lecture. » —Lettres Québécoises

Dans la tête des animaux: Ce que l'on sait vraiment sur leur intelligence

by François Y. Doré

What do we REALLY know about animal intelligence? What does a cat think while he stares at birds? Or what about an elephant, walking in the wild, or a monkey facing a mirror? If animals cannot talk to us, recent research shows that their mental activity is intense. An admirable synthesis of 100 years of psychology and ethology studies!

Médecine(s) et santé: Une petite histoire globale - 19^e et 20^e siècles

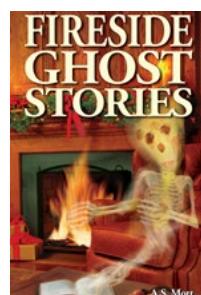

de Laurence Monnais

La médecine et la santé sont au cœur de nos vies et de nos discours, certes, mais les interrogations entourant le rôle de la première dans la seconde restent nombreuses. C'est de cette relation qu'il est fait état dans ce livre. Cette petite histoire de la médecine se penche à la fois sur la construction de systèmes de santé, la médicalisation des corps féminins, la (sur)consommation de médicaments et l'éradication des maladies infectieuses ici et ailleurs dans le monde.

Why Indigenous Literatures Matter

by Daniel Heath Justice

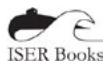

This book asserts the vital significance of literary expression to the political, creative, and intellectual efforts of Indigenous peoples. The author challenges readers to critically consider and rethink assumptions about Indigenous literature, history, and politics, never forgetting the emotional connections of our shared humanity and the transformative power of story.

Chroniques post-apocalyptiques d'une enfant sage

d'Annie Bacon

Astride est une adolescente de 13 ans d'un naturel réservé. À la suite d'un cataclysme déclenché par des scientifiques, elle se retrouve seule, sans parents ni amis. La jeune fille se réfugie dans le seul endroit qu'elle juge sécuritaire : la bibliothèque du quartier. Pour combler ses besoins primaires, elle s'approvisionne dans les commerces avoisinants et découvre que d'autres ont survécu. La nourriture étant rare, elle doit faire preuve de vigilance pour assurer sa survie.

Fired Up about Capitalism by Tom Malleson

There is no alternative to free-market capitalism. At least, that's what we've been told since the 1980s, when Margaret Thatcher first declared the debate over. Politicians daily declare it, journalists parrot it, rich people gloat about it, and regular people simply assume it. Fired Up about Capitalism forcefully argues that this is nothing but a myth.

Dépourvu by Victoria Grondin

Imagine for a moment a universe where all the roles are reversed. The entire population is born with Autism Spectrum Disorder. Society is perfectly functional, tailored to the needs of its people. Then there's you, little old you, who arrives. You are, in our world, a perfectly normal human being. However, in this story, you are disabled. A difficult case, hard to handle. The world is upside down. How would you react?

C'est pas facile d'être une fille, tome 1 de Bach (Estelle Bachelard)

« Armée d'un graphisme simple mais stylisé et d'un humour dont l'intelligence frappe, c'est la lecture parfaite qui manquait à votre bibliothèque. Avec tout ce talent, on risque d'entendre parler à profusion de cette nouvelle auteure qui est bien en route vers le Temple de la renommée de la bande dessinée. » —Myriam Roy, La Presse

de Bach (Estelle Bachelard)

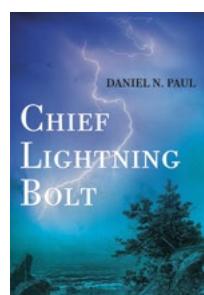

« Après le succès de son premier livre, l'attachante Bach nous revient avec de nouvelles aventures pour notre plus grand plaisir ! À lire, pour tous ces petits moments d'autodérisson où vous vous direz, en riant : Ah, ça, c'est tellement l'histoire de ma vie ! » —Les Libraires.ca

Chief Lightning Bolt: A Novel

by Daniel N. Paul

With We Were Not the Savages, Daniel Paul changed the way the world understood the history of Eastern Canada and the fully developed civilization that existed before the arrival of the European explorers and settlers, and the nature of the subsequent violent attack on that culture. With Chief Lightning Bolt, Paul shows us exactly what was lost, the beauty of the Mi'kma'ki that once existed, and the culture that survived and is only now beginning to recover.

I Was Cleopatra

by Dennis Abrams

The provocative fictional memoir of a boy actor in Shakespearian London. In I Was Cleopatra, readers meet John Rice—perhaps the most beautiful and acclaimed boy actor of them all. It is believed by many that John Rice originated the roles of Lady Macbeth, Cleopatra, and Cordelia, and this fictional memoir explores his life both on and off the stage.

When Morning Comes

by Arushi Rania

Written from the points of view of four young people living in Johannesburg and its black township, Soweto—Zanele, a black female student organizer; Meena, of South Asian background working at her father's shop; Jack, an Oxford-bound white student; and Thabo, a teen gang member—this book explores the roots of the Soweto Uprising and apartheid in a South Africa about to explode.

La légende de LEZARDO DA VINCI: Les Abysses de Mörker

de Daniel L. Moisan

L'univers fantastique de Moisan mélange légendes, aventures et magies dans un contexte rigoureusement historique, où des personnages fictifs côtoient les Luther, Machiavel, Chevaliers d'Avignon et autres grands de l'époque, au sortir du Moyen Âge.

You're You

by Mette Bach

Seventeen-year-old Freyja has always identified as a lesbian and fought fearlessly for LGBTQ issues at her school. After her girlfriend, Rachel, breaks up with her, she develops a passion for the cause of food justice—and for Sanjay, her team leader at the food bank. Should she stick with her old idea of herself or take a chance on love?

Four Against the Wolves

by Sonia Sarfati and Lou Victor Karnas

A unique blend of adventure novel and manga (70/30) by one of the finest authors of middle-grade fiction! In Eastwood, when night falls, four superheroes patrol the streets. Their goal: to save the old theme park, specifically its haunted house, also known as "the house of the first kiss." A dense story, action-focused, that also tackles themes of friendship, love, betrayal, class differences and the importance of family.
