Tired of love's collateral damages, four young women decide to found a secret sisterhood, which is supposed to limit the risks of romantic dependence and heartbreak. How will Mali, Cori, Gen and Sacha remain true to themselves and live up to their dreams and aspirations while abiding by the rules of their pledge?

Hilarious, sometimes moving, but never monotonous, all six books of the happily named Chick Lit series explore the lighter side of love, romance and celibacy, with four charming girls we would all want to have as best friends.

L'orgueilleux et impitoyable Karl Haustein toisa d'un regard perçant l'homme courageux ayant osé le défier. « Au moins, vous avez le mérite d'être franc ! s'exclama-t-il d'une voix vibrante de colère. Et puisque nous en sommes aux coïncidences, je le serai moi aussi : dites-moi donc l'effet que ça fait, malgré votre jeune quarantaine, d'avoir plus de souvenirs que d'avenir ? » Vous voyez, Karl, à force de discuter, on finit par se trouver des affinités !

L'aventure de Sentinum se poursuit avec Faction, un thriller international dans lequel se mélangeant astucieusement le suspense, les jeux de pouvoir, les sueurs froides et les émotions. L'heure de vérité a sonné pour Christopher Ross. Notre héros à l'ingéniosité légendaire, sera contraint de renier ses promesses afin de replonger corps et âme dans l'abîme de la guerre.

Le docteur Ewen Luneau n'a pas un seul instant imaginé que le fantôme de son directeur de recherche viendrait de nouveau le hanter. Adepte des théories les plus farfelues du monde de l'archéologie, ce vieux fou a sacrifié sa carrière pour plonger corps et âme dans l'étude des mystères entourant les plus grands sites patrimoniaux. Ewen a suivi son sillage, sacrifiant ainsi son avenir. Mais grâce à ses activités de pilleur de tombes, il n'a jamais été dans le besoin. Rien ne le prédisposait à obtenir une seconde chance.

Premier roman d'un auteur-comédien-dramaturge qui ne cesse d'étonner. Les Jérémiaades, c'est le récit de l'amour fou et absolu d'un garçon de 9 ans et d'un adolescent de 15 ans. La découverte de l'identité sexuelle, doublée d'une remarquable perception du monde. Un style où s'allient l'humour et la tragédie.

Réaction d'un jeune après le suicide d'un de ses amis. Description du mal-être dans les banlieues monotones, du sentiment qu'il n'y a pas d'avenir pour les jeunes. Une histoire prenante qui ne fait pas la morale, qui ne juge et condamne personne et, en bout de ligne, un hymne à la vie. Une écriture d'une grande finesse.

Finaliste du prix Anne-Hébert 2006, ce roman a été adapté au théâtre par Claude Poissant du PàP sous le titre Je voudrais me déposer la tête, et au cinéma par Stefan Miljevic sous le titre Le lendemain de la fête.

Winner of the 2013 Stephen Leacock Medal For Humour.

Frieda Zweig is at an impasse. Behind her is a string of failed relationships and the half-forgotten ambitions of being a painter; in front of her lies the dreary task of finding a real job and figuring out what “normal” people do with their lives. Then, a classified ad in the local paper introduces Frieda to Gladys, an elderly woman who long ago gave up on her dreams of being a dancer. The catch? Gladys is a ghost.

In Dance, Gladys, Dance, Cassie Stocks tells the uplifting story of a woman whose uncanny connection with a kindred spirit causes her to see her life in a new way—as anything but ordinary.

July 29, 1916. In the woods of Northern Ontario, the flames are rising. On that day, the young Boychuck will narrowly escape death, forever scarred by the sight of his homeland in ashes. Decades later, a photographer takes interest in the survivors of the Great Fires that ravaged the province at the beginning of the twentieth century, venerable old hermits living deep in the woods, still prizing their freedom.

A story of survival and dignity, a shining demonstration that love, hope and the desire to be free do not wither with age.

As Grant demonstrates, quite apart from furnishing a highly revealing self-portrait of their author, van Gogh's letters are compelling for their imaginative and expressive power, as well as for the perceptive commentary they offer on universal human themes.

Through a subtle exploration of van Gogh's contrastive style of thinking and his fascination with the notion of imperfection, Grant illuminates gradual shifts in van Gogh's ideas on religion, ethics, and art. He also analyzes the metaphorical significance of a number of key images in the letters, which prove to yield unexpected psychological and conceptual connections, and probes the relationships that surface when the letters are viewed as a cohesive literary product.

The result is a wealth of new insights into van Gogh's inner landscape.

A systematic overview of the major issues, trends, and areas of priority in online distance education research. In each chapter, international experts provide an overview of one timely issue in online distance education, summarizing research, discussing theoretical insights, posing questions and directions for future research, and discussing the implications for distance education practice as a whole.

Intended as a primary reference and guide for distance educators, researchers, and policymakers, aspects of distance education practice that have often been marginalized, including cost and economics, concerns surrounding social justice, cultural bias, the need for faculty professional development, and the management and growth of learner communities are addressed.

At once soundly empirical and thoughtfully reflective, yet also forward-looking and open to new approaches to online and distance teaching, this text is a solid resource for researchers in a rapidly expanding discipline.

Strategic Nonviolent Power proposes that the route to what Gandhi described as the “undreamt of and seemingly impossible discoveries” of nonviolent resistance is the application of rigorous science.

Mattaini’s application of ecological science grounded in the science of behaviour brings exceptional power to the struggle for justice and liberation. At a time when civil resistance is actively reshaping global political realities, the science of nonviolent struggle deserves the attention of the scientific, activist, strategic, military, spiritual, and diplomatic communities, as well as the informed public.

“I don’t know of another study that does what this one does—apply a new theoretical framework to nonviolent resistance, synthesize existing material, and provide numerous illuminating examples from history—in a single book.” -Erica Chenoweth, Why Civil Resistance Works: The Strategic Logic of Nonviolent Conflict.

In Teaching Crowds, Dron and Anderson introduce a new model for understanding and exploiting the pedagogical potential of Web-based technologies, one that rests on connections—on networks and collectives—rather than on separations.

Recognizing that online learning both demands and affords new models of teaching and learning, the authors show how learners can engage with social media platforms to create an unbounded field of emergent connections. These connections empower learners, allowing them to draw from one another's expertise to formulate and fulfill their own educational goals. In an increasingly networked world, developing such skills will, they argue, better prepare students to become self-directed, lifelong learners.

Alors qu'elle lutte contre l'arthrite/arthrose qui la fait souffrir sévèrement, Jacqueline Lagacé découvre le régime hypotoxique du docteur Seignalet et décide de le suivre. Les résultats sont spectaculaires. En dix jours, la douleur a disparu et en seize mois, elle recouvre totalement l'usage de ses doigts.

Il n'en faut pas davantage pour que cette scientifique se plonge dans la lecture des articles de plus en plus nombreux qui paraissent sur l'alimentation en relation avec les différentes maladies d'inflammation chronique.

Ayant rassemblé une abondante documentation, elle se consacre à l'écriture d'un livre « pour informer ceux qui souffrent que des changements dans l'alimentation pourraient permettre de redonner une qualité de vie qu'ils ne croyaient plus possible ».

De 1986 à 2003, Jacqueline Lagacé, Ph. D., a partagé son temps entre la direction d'un laboratoire de recherche en microbiologie et immunologie, la direction de thèses et l'enseignement de l'immunologie et de la microbiologie à la Faculté de médecine de l'Université de Montréal.

La première partie du livre est due à l'expertise en cuisine hypotoxique de l'auteure et de ses deux collaboratrices Louise Labrèche et Louise Côté. La seconde partie du livre est née de sa rencontre avec Jocelyna Dubuc, la directrice générale du Spa Eastman. À la suite d'une dégustation de différents plats hypotoxiques exécutés par le chef cuisinier Kévin Bélisle et son collaborateur, Jean-Marc Enderlin, un nutrithérapeute, Jacqueline Lagacé a été tellement impressionnée par la saveur exceptionnelle de leur cuisine qu'elle les a invités à collaborer à l'élaboration de ce livre. D'ailleurs, le chef Kévin Bélisle vient d'être honoré Chef Santé 2013.

Fleeing the Hijab vividly portrays the dangerous journey made by two teenaged women through the Iranian desert to Pakistan, where, as homeless refugees, they struggled desperately to find some way to escape to the West.

The Ayatollah Khomeini had decreed that all women in Iran must wear the hijab, whether they were Muslim, Jewish, Christian, or Bahá'í. Thirteen-year-old Sima had gone out into the streets of Shiraz to demonstrate for freedom from the Shah's oppressive rule, and now that he had fled the country, this was the result: a new regime, and much more dangerous oppression.

The regime changes forced on the population were totally incompatible with Sima's ambitions and sense of personal freedom. Blacklisted by her school, unable to continue her studies, mourning the loss of innocent family members and friends murdered by the new regime, and forced to wear the hijab, she realized she had to leave her beloved birthplace and find a country where she could be free to follow her dreams.

Cowboy Ron, Ed the Negotiator, Joke-a-Minute Jim, and Practical Carol are part of the motley crew that experiences skiing mishaps, malfunctioning airplanes, a near fistfight on a cruise ship on the azure seas of the Caribbean and trying to explain ice hockey to some African children. The author balances many more challenges of travel with vivid descriptions of visits to exotic locales and philanthropic activities to help the less fortunate around the world.

Who would think a young woman studying nursing from a family that loves to eat, would nearly die because of her battle with an eating disorder (ED). This is an inner look at what goes on in the mind of a starving anorexic to help readers understand why recovery is such a difficult journey.

Written in a light-hearted way, using plenty of food-based puns, Recipe for Recovery is honest and sincere. Marina addresses ED issues that aren't normally discussed such as why a calm person can become violent as part of the resistance to recovery, and why ED patients are in denial, refuse to eat, and are afraid of gaining weight. Citing the latest research, Marina explains how those living with ED can find the strength to recover.

Recipe for Recovery will help caregivers, friends, and professionals learn why ED is so difficult to overcome, how to support victims with ED, and how to stay sane during the entire journey. Marina's message is clear: recovery is possible.

By James Gifford

UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA

6 x 9 • 352 pages

Gifford's invigorating work of metacriticism and literary history recovers the significance of the "lost generation" of writers of the 1930s and 1940s. He examines how the personalism of anarcho-anti-authoritarian contemporaries such as Alex Comfort, Robert Duncan, Lawrence Durrell, J.F. Hendry, Henry Miller, Elizabeth Smart, Dylan Thomas, and Henry Treece forges a missing link between late modernist and postmodernist literature.

He concludes by applying his recontextualization to four familiar texts by Miller, Durrell, Smart, and Duncan, and encourages readers to re-engage the lost generation using this new critical lens.

Kinds of Winter

Four Solo Journeys by Dogteam in Canada's Northwest Territories

By Dave Olesen

After 15 years as a sled dog racer, Dave Olesen turned his focus away from competition and set out to fulfill a lifelong dream. Over the course of 4 successive winters he steered his dogs and sled on long trips away from his remote Northwest Territories homestead, setting out in turn to the four cardinal compass points—south, east, north, and west—and home again to Hoarfrost River.

His narrative ranges from the personal and poignant musings of a dogsled driver to loftier planes of introspection and contemplation. Olesen describes his journeys day by day, but this book is not merely an account of his travels. Neither is it yet another offering in the genre of “wide-eyed southerner meets the Arctic” because Olesen is a firmly rooted northerner, having lived and travelled in the boreal outback for over thirty years. Olesen’s life story colours his writing: educated immigrant, husband and father, professional dog musher, working bush pilot, and denizen of log cabins far off the grid.

Jennifer Katz's first book, Teaching to Diversity, presented the Three-Block Model of Universal Design for Learning (UDL) as a model for inclusive education. In her second book, Resource Teachers, she describes a fundamental shift in the role of resource teachers—collaborating with classroom teachers in inclusive classrooms. Dr. Katz discusses practical and innovative ways resource teachers can partner with classroom teachers—by co-planning, co-teaching, and co-assessing instruction using the Three-Block Model of UDL. The author offers:

- A tiered system of intervention and collaboration that describes a process for resource teachers working alongside classroom teachers to guide programming for students.
- Case studies and student examples that model a new process for assessing student learning and behaviour, and for developing IEPs and interventions in universally designed, inclusive ways.

This book, unlike any other on the market, tackles the qualitative side of running, suggesting movements adapted to the body's mechanics, while taking into account each person's particular characteristics.

Its specific advice for improving running technique in 10 stages covers every aspect of the sport, from your stride to your pace, and including posture, breathing and arm and leg movements. This advice is accompanied by clear explanations and sample photos, supplemented by roughly a hundred specific exercises. The book also includes guidelines for choosing shoes suitable for all kinds of running; an illustrated section on common running injuries, how to avoid them and the best treatments; and numerous training programs to prepare athletes for running a range of distances.

In this poetic tale by Nick Thran, winner of the 2012 Trilliam Book Award for Poetry, we have the sad story of Hal, a lobster from Halifax, Nova Scotia, with a talent for playing the guitar.

All Hal wanted was "to be remembered as a noble lobster..."

This is the third title in Bayeux's acclaimed imprint, An Odd Little Book, bringing text and art by prominent Canadian artists—musicians, painters, playwrights, comedians, and puppeteers.

Maximilian leads a perfectly ordinary life until one day his father contracts a mysterious illness. Before long his mother and each of his six elder sisters are struck down by the same malediction and with each passing day their condition becomes more critical. To make matters worse, Maximilian fears that the cause of his family's misfortunes may be traced back to him and a single ghastly mistake he made, a mistake that Maximilian fears may lead not only to his family's but ultimately his own tragic demise.

The Umbrella is Bayeux's first title in the series An Odd Little Book, and was honoured with a Governor General's Prize shortlist.

This outstanding series brings together text and images from prominent members of Canada's arts community—playwrights, musicians, visual artists, poets, puppeteers, and what have you.

The Umbrella is a poetic story of love, love lost, and love regained. What makes it unique is that the unspoken love is between an umbrella and its owner. Jealous tongues try to belittle the bonds of love by suggesting there can be no love between a man and an inanimate object like an umbrella. But that is not true, even when the 'object' has lost its intrinsic quality. There is a special process called transformation.

Judd Palmer is a celebrated artist, dramatist, poet, and puppeteer.

A traveling artist takes the reader through a collection of illustrations of fantastical hybrid creatures.

Beloved illustrator Wallace Edwards (Uncle Wally's Old Brown Shoe) invites us into the world of Professor I.B. Doodling, a traveling artist who takes suggestions from schoolchildren in order to create fantastical hybrid animals. The result of these visits is Unnatural Selections, a collection of magnificent beasts, from the stately Whalephant to the talented Lizabouboon.

Sure to inspire the imagination, Wallace Edwards's intricate illustrations invite you to pore over them again and again. A supplementary index lists additional creatures to spot throughout the book's pages, encouraging readers to go back for a second, and a third, look.

Zaza a un grand chagrin d'amour et son cœur a disparu. Un immense trou vide l'a remplacé. Zaza part à la recherche de son cœur et elle se lance dans des aventures et des rencontres les plus diverses. Elle s'agitte, se perd même dans cette recherche effrénée, mais peut-être que son cœur est plus près d'elle qu'elle ne l'imagine.

L'histoire de Zaza est née à la base d'un dessin d'un personnage avec à la place du cœur une cible... le thème du cœur abîmé, cassé, rogné.

Une histoire très touchante, des illustrations colorées et originales et des créatrices pleines de talent.

Malphas n'était plus que l'ombre de lui-même cherchant l'apaisement et un second souffle. Isolé et bien caché, il reprenait du poil de la bête à Dorado lorsqu'il entendit dire qu'Andrick, le chef des chevaliers du pentacle, recherchait une pierre noire connue sous le nom de dracontia, une pierre qui lui permettrait possiblement de réintégrer son corps délaissé plus d'un siècle dans une crypte.

Alors, une lutte à deux s'engagea afin d'acquérir cette pierre. Qui des deux mettra la main sur la dracontia, une pierre gardée secrète et bien camouflée à Dorado ?

C'est qu'on lui a caché bien des choses: ses origines, son âge, son nom... et leurs fiançailles ! Un pacte scellé à sa naissance par une promesse de sang qui rend le parfum d'Alexander... irrésistible. On tente de la protéger de son propre fiancé. Pourquoi ? Ils s'aiment ! Que doit-elle faire ? Suivre son cœur ou ses convictions ?

Alexane, Maïka et Laurie Lafontaine. Trois sœurs qui se ressemblent, mais qui sont aussi bien différentes. Un jour, elles sont super copines; le lendemain, elles s'insultent. Mais au final, elles s'aiment, à travers les aléas de la vie...

À l'aube de ses treize ans, Alexane est la benjamine de la famille. Cette année, elle rejoint ses grandes sœurs au secondaire. Elle croyait sincèrement que tout se passerait bien... Mais Pénélope la terrorise dans les couloirs de la polyvalente, ses parents se disputent, sa sœur Laurie joue à la mère avec elle et Maïka est centrée sur son nombril. De son côté, Alexane n'en a que pour le beau Olivier... Connaitra-t-elle son premier amour avec lui ?

Que sait-on vraiment des anges et démons ? Appartiennent-ils seulement au monde surnaturel ou sont-ils ancrés dans le monde réel ? C'est ce que découvriront Jared et Gabriel le jour de leur dix-septième anniversaire.

Meilleurs amis depuis l'enfance, Jared et Gabriel sont très différents l'un de l'autre. C'est au moment où une nouvelle élève, Grace, fait son entrée à l'Académie Saint-Michael que leur destinée les séparera et que leur amitié sera en péril.

At sixteen, Ariel is living the classic teenager life, dealing with school, homework, friendship and a cute boyfriend with an irresistible smile. However, a small detail distinguishes her from the others: she has been scouted as a youth spy by the national spy school. Ariel now has to deal with this unusual combination of lifestyles: student and government spy.

Lili and Clara Perrier are identical twins, but they couldn't be more different! Lili is a go-getter, and dynamic, and loves dancing. Clara is shy, self-effacing, and has a passion for deserts. We follow them through high school, Lili in a dance-academics program, Clara attending a private college.

Composed as a four-hands diary, this novel series is going to get lots of attention from young girls ... and their parents! Full of irresistible humor, these stories are remarkable for their lighthearted tone but do not shy away from the more serious subjects.

Un jeune Chinois assoiffé par une longue marche en montagne tombe sous le charme de la belle qui lui tend à boire. Revenant au même endroit un an plus tard, il désespère de jamais revoir l'éblouissante apparition. L'amour et la poésie seront-ils de son côté ?

A young Chinese, thirsty after a long mountain climb, is smitten by the charms of a beautiful girl who gives him a drink. Returning to the same place a year later, he despairs of ever again seeing this dazzling vision. Will love and poetry be on his side?
