The Box of the Dead

Beatrice MacNeil

The Box of the Dead centers on Iva-doile, who was widowed early and has run a boarding house on Cape Breton for many years in the splendid home left to her by her doctor husband. We muse with her over the turns her life has taken as she approaches old age — the characters who stayed with her between sea-voyages, the blood on her hands at far too young an age. Iva-doile now pauses to listen to the fat bird sing in her “Secret Garden” and reminisces about the thorns and roses in her long life.

Damn  

L'H  ritage des Cathares

Herv   Gagnon
Illustrations   ric Robillard (Kinos)

A captivating four-title series.

In the year 1209, Gondemar, a young nobleman having committed every monstrous sin imaginable in his short life, dies and finds himself in hell. An archangel offers Gondemar a bargain – Stand guard over the Truth, and save your soul.

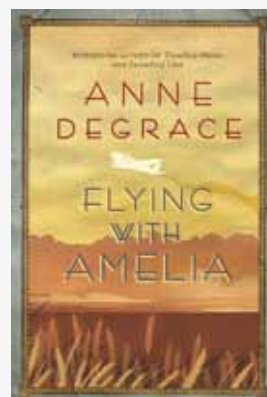

Returned to life, Gondemar travels to the Southern Lands, where the full fury of a Crusade against the Cathars is underway. From battle to battle, through betrayals and trials, he discovers the real nature of the Truth, and nothing in the world will ever be the same...

Flying with Amelia

Anne DeGrace

Flying with Amelia chronicles the dreams and struggles of a cast of unforgettable characters through more than a hundred years and across a vast landscape as they face challenges and find courage, sometimes in surprising places. Anne DeGrace weaves a collective identity, taking us on a journey from the first sight of a new land, through a century, and beyond.

“Flying with Amelia soars across Canada ... Anne DeGrace never fails to deliver emotionally rich and aesthetically enticing fiction ... A beautiful achievement by a gifted writer.”

La fugueuse

(The Runaway)

Carmen Robertson

Léa, a bookstore owner, loses her sister after a plane crashes off the shores of Peggy's Cove in Nova Scotia. This sudden death shakes Léa's fragile state of mind and awakens ghosts from her troubled past.

La fugueuse jumps back and forth through time, spreading elements here and there to reveal deep secrets. It is an emotional fiction inspired by a real event; the September 1998 crash of Swissair Flight 111.

Goldberg Variations

Nancy Huston

Suppose you invite 30 people to your home, people whom you love or have loved, to listen to you perform Bach's Goldberg Variations. And say that this concert unfolds like a midsummer night's dream, that is, you, Liliane, succeed in vibrating 30 people like so many variations, each at a different tune – you must oscillate between memory and speculation; you must, above all, master your fears –, maybe then, all these fragments of music would dance into the same stream, and that you would call the Goldberg Variations, a novel.

Il pleuvait des oiseaux

Jocelyne Saucier

July 29, 1916. In the woods of Northern Ontario, the flames are rising. On that day, the young Boychuck will narrowly escape death, forever scarred by the sight of his homeland in ashes. Decades later, a photographer takes interest in the survivors of the Great Fires that ravaged the province at the beginning of the twentieth century, venerable old hermits living deep in the woods, still prizing their freedom.

A story of survival and dignity, a shining demonstration that love, hope and the desire to be free do not wither with age.

The Pilgrim

Book IV of the Alford Saga

Paul Almond

The Pilgrim, the fourth book in Paul Almond's thrilling Alford Saga, opens in 1896. After graduating from Bishop's University, young rector Jack Alford is sent to the implacable granite shores of the Canadian Labrador on the vast St. Lawrence River. Hazards imperil his life as he travels this harsh 450-mile coastline in summer and winter, by boat and dogsled, to visit communities in his far-flung parish.

Enthralling and adventurous, the Alford Saga chronicles two hundred years of Canadian history, as seen through the eyes of a settler's family. Soon to be a major television series!

La romance des ogres

Stéphane Choquette

Samuel Fontaine, married and a father, meets Naomi, an attractive young Montrealer who is engrossed in reading Un théâtre de marionnettes, an autobiographical novel by Ellen Cleary. At 16, Samuel had a love affair with the author, a fortysomething woman known then as Hélène. At times sweet and at times a monster, Hélène left an indelible mark on Samuel. The story is interspersed with excerpts from Ellen's horror novels, short stories, autobiography and letters between Hélène and the young Samuel. An impressive game of mirrors plays out between past, present, fiction, self-fiction and reality. In this game, power, seduction and cheating are the currency between ogres!

Sky Flyers

Richard Mousseau

Higher than any of the other kites, the Sky Flyer waved its long tail of spinning fan blades. A rainbow of colours flashed from each decorated blade. Competing kids unreeling line in hopes of matching its height. Eyes fixated on the Sky Flyer. Kids cheered. Some were intimidated by the Sky Flyer's achievement. Town's folk paused, shaded their eyes, oohed and awed with delight at seeing the display of playful kites. Some wished that their childhood could have been as adventurous and playful.

This September of 1910 is a momentous time.

Volte-face et malaises

(Of Awkward Moments and About-Face)

Rafaële Germain

Thirty-two-year-old ghostwriter Geneviève Creighan is a hypersensitive woman who tries to hide her emotions... with little success. Her boyfriend Florian, a handsome 40-year-old architect, has just left her for a much younger woman. Devastated, Geneviève gets back on her feet with the support of friends, a ridiculous but effective therapy, a sense of humour, and the arrival of a young writer, Maxime, who seduces her in spite of her reticence.

Tired of his young chick, Florian returns to Geneviève's arms. Convinced her destiny is to be with Florian, Geneviève tells Maxime she can no longer see him. Ultimately, she realizes her mistake and decides to win Maxime back – and finally take charge of her happiness.

Insinuendo

Murder in the Museum

Miriam Clavir

Berry Cates has undergone a “radical lifectomy,” remaking her life at 53. Newly single and in a new career at a museum, she soon becomes the target of serious accusations. Determined to prove these false, Berry gets into deeper trouble. Her sleuthing uncovers museum staff casting illicit bronzes and blackmail being delivered via a Roman curse tablet. Curatorial fraud and accusations by aboriginal people of poisoning their heritage regalia with toxic pesticides come to light as well.

Only when Berry realizes she has been asking the wrong questions does she stop her slide into a web of deceit.

The Painter's Craft

Susan Statham

A mystery set around an artist's studio in Toronto.

A Toronto artist finds herself in the unlikely role of amateur sleuth as she sets about unraveling the strange death of her mentor, a renowned artist, through the tangle of a working art studio and the legacies left behind by the murdered artist's love of mythology and Shakespeare.

"A triple treat for mystery lovers! There's the murder investigation of a wonderful artist, his unique legacies, each requiring a knowledge of mythology, and in the artist's studio we discover how paintings are made..."

I, Witness

Norah McClintock
Illustrations Mike Deas

When you witness something horrific, do you look out for yourself? Or try and find justice?

In a dark back alley, Boone and Andre witness a violent murder, and agree not to mention it. But the killers have different ideas and come after Boone and his friends, killing two of them. Boone is desperate to save himself but realizes to do so he will need to face the violent act in his past that continues to haunt him.

Told in Norah McClintock's trademark suspenseful style and with spare black-and-white illustrations from Mike Deas, this compelling graphic novel looks into the darkness and forces us to face our deepest fears.

The Unwritten Diary of Israel Unger

Carolyn Gammon, Israel Unger

In Tarnow, Poland, nine Jews hid from the Nazis in an attic crawl space for two years. Against all odds, they emerged alive. Israel Unger was one of them. His mother said that if the war had not ended, he would have not lived another month. After the war the children were sent away to safety. Eventually reunited with their family, they immigrated to Canada in 1951. This is Israel's life story – his “unwritten diary.”

Israel Unger was one of 50 Holocaust survivors honoured by the Government of Canada in 1998 with the fiftieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

The Ocean Ranger

Remaking the Promise of Oil

Susan Dodd

In February 1982, the Ocean Ranger oil rig sank off the coast of Newfoundland taking the entire crew of 84 men – including the author's brother – down with it. Susan Dodd resurrects this disaster from the realm of "history" and maps the sociopolitical processes of its aftermath, when power, money and collective hopes for the future revised the story of corporate indifference and betrayal of public trust into a "lesson learned" by an heroic industry advancing technology in the face of a brutal environment. A navigational resource for the aftermath of other disasters, including the Deepwater Horizon in the Gulf of Mexico, and a call for vigilant government regulation of industry in all its forms.

100 Minutes

Making Every Minute Count in the Literacy Block

Lisa Donohue

A comprehensive look at literacy and learning that encompasses reading, writing, oral communication, and digital literacy. This timely book shows teachers ways to fit balanced literacy into a daily 100-minute literacy block using a framework of whole-class instruction and writing sessions, combined with independent work. This passionate book demonstrates that it is possible to create and manage a literacy block where students have voice and choice in their learning, identify areas for growth and set goals, while teachers provide explicit instruction and meet curriculum requirements.

Balanced Literacy Essentials

Weaving Theory into Practice for Successful Instruction in Reading, Writing, and Talk

Michelann Parr, Terry Campbell

This practical book offers teachers a comprehensive approach to literacy instruction that puts students at the centre of the learning process. Based on the latest learning theories, the book provides an overview of the key elements of reading instruction; techniques for supporting writers; poetry, storytelling, and drama activities that encourage alternate ways of learning; and language experiences that help students master the digital world. Both thoughtful and inspiring, the book will help educators weave theory into practice for successful instruction in reading, writing, and talk.

Ban the Book Report

Promoting Frequent and Enthusiastic Reading

Graham Foster

This remarkable resource argues that the main purpose of reading assignments is to encourage, rather than discourage, reading. It inspires teachers to go beyond narrow and analytical book reports by exploring the potential of oral and visual activities, and offers response assignments that are more closely aligned with the real reasons that we read. Practical and straightforward, the book offers more than 20 specific assignments that will engage students in thoughtful, personal response, and persuade them to respond to their reading in innovative ways.

Literacy Smarts

Simple Classroom Strategies for Using Interactive Whiteboards to Engage Students

Jennifer Harper, Brenda Stein Dzaldov

This practical book introduces simple activities and tasks that use interactive whiteboard technology to bring a new vitality to classroom lessons. It offers original ways to go beyond simple text and encourages connecting the classroom to the wide range of texts that students use in the “real” world. Literacy Smarts argues that interactive whiteboards can lead us into the future of learning — interpreting, managing, exploring and expanding our students’ thinking. It demands that students think, interact and engage with a wide variety of texts to become more effective learners in the twenty-first century.

Successful Student Transition

Ruth Sutton
With Kathleen Gregory and James Gray

A student’s learning life has many “transitions” – from home to school, from grade level to grade level, from one stage to the next. None of these has more impact on learning and school achievement than the transition from elementary school to secondary school.

Ruth Sutton helps us find a way through these complexities. She asks some important questions about professional practices in North American schools. Then, drawing on research studies from around the world, and from her own work in the UK and New Zealand, Sutton offers practical suggestions for making student transition successful.

Teaching to Diversity

The Three-Block Model of Universal Design for Learning

Jennifer Katz

Jennifer Katz reviews the research on inclusive education and outlines her three-block model of universal design for learning (UDL). This model – creating compassionate learning communities, collaborating on inclusive instructional best practices, and modifying educational systems and structures – focuses on supporting diverse learners. The author developed the highly beneficial model during her 16-plus years of teaching in inclusive classrooms. Teaching to Diversity is, ultimately, about creating classrooms and schools that teach to the heart, mind, and spirit of every student.

This Book is Not about Drama

It's about New Ways to Inspire Students

Myra Barrs, Bob Barton, David Booth

A comprehensive approach to using role play and discussion to build language experiences that are meaningful for all learners. This authoritative resource explores issues around storytelling, silent speech, writing, and imagination, and shows teachers how to be effective observers and support the deeper meaning that comes from working inside and outside text. Model texts and examples from real classrooms put the strategies and activities into context. These classroom glimpses illustrate the power that students can bring to the learning experience.

Raise You Twenty

Essays and Encounters, 1964-2011

Barry Callaghan

The third volume of essays from Canada's Man of Letters, following the critically acclaimed Raise You Five and Raise You Ten. Novelist and poet Barry Callaghan is one of Canada's great journalists.

Callaghan's journalism covers an astonishing range, from serious political reporting to autobiography, sports writing, and travel writing. In the late sixties he began his career as a books editor and weekly columnist at the Toronto Telegram, setting a standard that has rarely been met since. He became a war correspondent in the Middle East and Africa, and a translator of, and commentator on, the culture and politics of European countries from Spain to Russia.

All About Love

Anatomy of an Unruly Emotion

Lisa Appignanesi

Unruly, unpredictable, love is a mad-denying deity. Love has us singing in the rain or tearing our hair out. Or duelling with its shadows, hate, jealousy and loss. From the award-winning author of Mad, Bad and Sad: Women and the Mind Doctors, this book tangles with the paradoxes of love through the span of our lives – from rapturous love to love in “marriage,” in the family and in friendship. Appignanesi investigates love’s shifts and continuities from the Greeks to the present and examines our present hypersexualized predicament.

Danser avec le chaos (Dancing with chaos)

Welcome the unexpected into your life

Jean-François Vézina

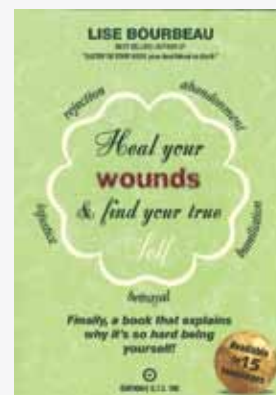

From birth, life begins its great conversation with us. Children welcome novelty and respond to life with astonishing poetry and genius. As we age, instead of remaining open to the unexpected, we take refuge in comfort and seeking happiness at any cost. When we only live among what is expected, nothing vibrant and original happens anymore and we lose our freedom. The author suggests we become aware of our expectations and then dare to accept change and unpredictable events as they occur. To “unexpected” is to feel once again the child’s ability to dance with chaos. Vézina invites us to let ourselves be thrown off balance by life’s unexpected events, in whatever form.

La maladie d'Alzheimer : Le guide

(Alzheimer's Disease: The Complete Guide)

Jules Poirier, Serge Gauthier

Alzheimer's disease is rapidly becoming a source of stress and confusion for an aging generation of baby boomers that is also seeing its family members and loved ones age.

Written by two world-renowned specialists, this practical guide offers a complete profile of the disease. The authors demystify the different stages and describe recent research, newly approved therapies, including those in the trial stage, and offer new strategies for prevention.

This book features many colour photos, diagrams and images of the brain. By informing, reassuring and proposing useful resources, it helps confront the emotions that are experienced when facing this mysterious illness.

La sieste chez l'enfant

Brigitte Langevin

Napping is key to physiological, intellectual and behavioral growth in children.

What are the good ways to integrate a nap in the life of a child from birth to 5 years of age, which would indulge the child in a pleasant way? At a time where the idea of giving a nap to infants arouses passion and controversy, parents and child care workers want to know the answer more than ever!

Renowned international lecturer Brigitte Langevin describes various steps and strategies through multiple stories and solid examples.

Langevin's books have been translated into several languages.

Jamaica in the Canadian Experience

A Multiculturalizing Presence

Carl E. James, Andrea Davis (eds.)

In 2012, Jamaica celebrates its fiftieth anniversary of independence from Britain. In the short period of its life as a nation, Jamaica's increasingly powerful influence on global culture cannot go unremarked. The growth of Jamaican diasporas beyond Britain to the United States, Canada and West Africa has served to strengthen Jamaica's global reach, so that today cultural, economic and political achievements are felt way beyond its national borders. This anthology commemorates Jamaica's independence by acknowledging the immense and widespread contributions of Jamaica and Jamaicans to Canadian society.

José Martí

Mentor of the Cuban Revolution, updated edition

John M. Kirk

An advocate of social justice, economic democracy and anti-imperialism, Martí wrote extensively about the future of a "Cuba libre," freed from Spain's rule, and is celebrated as one of Latin America's most important thinkers. Based on a detailed analysis of his complete works, José Martí studies the nature of this Cuban writer/revolutionary and examines the depth and breadth of his thought on society, economics, politics and morality. This book also investigates the uses and abuses of Martí as a political symbol by those who claim to espouse his ideas. In this insightful, balanced analysis, John M. Kirk argues that Martí's political thought was remarkably advanced – and still holds tremendous relevance for the modern era.

Bagages en cavale

(Bag Stories)

Bob Sirois, Pierre Thibeault

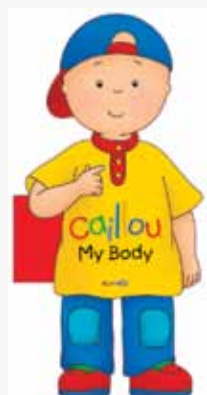

Each year, all over the world, more than 25 million pieces of luggage are missing when commercial planes land. Over one million will never be found or claimed by passengers. Private companies, working for airlines in every large airport worldwide, get the remainder through customs, make contact with travellers, and forward their lost luggage to them. Bag Stories is a collection of anecdotes told by employees of these companies and customs officers sure to make readers smile and even laugh out loud. Others are very touching and may bring a tear to the reader's eye. A charming book on an international subject, and genuine anecdotes that are often stranger than fiction!

Une grosse surprise pour Petit Pingouin

(Tiny Penguin's Big Surprise)

Marie-Danielle Croteau
Illustrations France Brassard

Far up North live a small polar bear and a tiny penguin. Ever since the day they both sought refuge on the same glacier, they have been inseparable. One day, they see something they have never seen before, a big boat. The boat leaves behind a big, red, round something. It's a buoy, but they think the boat has laid an egg. The bear sits on the egg to keep it warm, and the penguin feeds the bear. The buoy finally bursts and reveals to them that it's not an egg; but maybe the hot air from it presages spring!

A lovely story of friendship.

La petite fille et les loups

Gilles Tibo
Illustrations Marion Arbona

A long, long time ago, there was a little girl who lived with her grandfather, the magician Magikolini. Every time she wanted something, abracadabra ... there it was. One day, she and her grandfather dared to wander into the forest, a forest overrun by wolves who came out at dusk. Her grandfather realizes he has lost his powers, and they have no idea how to get home. But the little girl discovers her own "magical" powers: courage, resourcefulness, and ultimately much more. An old-fashioned story with beautiful, modern illustrations.

Un conte classique racontant que courage, amour et détermination peuvent triompher sur tout.

Père Noël est congédié !

Louise Banville
Illustrations Réjean Roy

Depuis trois ans, de nombreux enfants ne reçoivent plus leurs cadeaux à Noël même s'ils ont été bien sages durant toute l'année. Au pôle Nord, le lutin Merlino a découvert le pot aux roses : le Père Noël fait du favoritisme! Mis au courant de la situation, l'honorable Pingou, premier ministre du pôle Nord, décide de congédier le vieillard. Qui sera nommé à sa place? Qu'est-ce que va devenir le Père Noël?

Ce conte de Noël démontre que, dans la vie, on finit par récolter ce que l'on a semé.

L'Envahi'sœur

(The Invasion of the Dreadful Stepsister)

Sophie Laroche
Illustrations Marie Olé

The new Camille & Co. series stars a ten-year-old girl as witty as she is charming. Camille is not soft-spoken, and she relates her adventures with verve!

Jeanne, the daughter of Camille's mother's new beau is a teenager of the worst stripe: she respects nothing, thinks she knows everything, and complains ceaselessly. Camille nicknames her Drucilla, after Cinderella's vile step-sister. But Camille and Jeanne put aside their differences and concoct an infallible plan: they ask a mysterious fortune-teller to cast a spell on their parents that will cause them to split up. Thus, the girls would be rid of each other – forever!

Sophie Laroche has earned several literary prizes in France.

La légende de Lezardo da Vinci I

La Renaissance

Daniel L. Moisan
Illustrations Jean-Nicolas Nadeau

En 1519, l'humanité, tout juste sortie du Moyen-Âge, est en pleine renaissance. Un autre univers voit le jour, fait de science et d'une incroyable soif d'apprendre. Mais la science peut-elle tout expliquer? Même une obscure prophétie? « D'outre-mer, arrivera le malheur. Il portera en lui la bête et le savoir de l'humanité. Il terrassera le sombre temple à la lumière de l'équinoxe. »

Chassé par les siens, Djiangorata changera le monde à jamais en foulant le sol de Venise. Qui aurait cru que ce petit indigène influencerait le cours de l'histoire et serait à l'origine d'une des plus étranges légendes jamais racontées?

L'aventure commence!

Le cœur perdu d'Élysabeth (Élysabeth's Lost Heart)

Marie Gray

Working closely with psychologists, sex therapists, teachers, teenagers and parents, Marie Gray has developed a series of books that explores teenagers' reality with honesty and respect, in their own language, a world they recognize and live in. Gray uses fiction to establish a dialogue with teenagers on subjects such as first sexual experiences, peer pressure, love, and friendship, without morality, censorship or vulgarity.

After breaking up with Nico, the love of her life, Élysabeth is in pieces. She is hurt, badly. And from that point on, everything in her life starts going wrong, very wrong. Le cœur perdu d'Élysabeth tells how heartbreak can sometimes turn into a nightmare.
