Arvida

Samuel Archibald

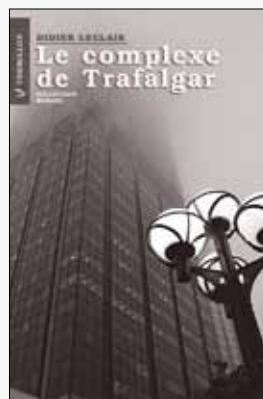

At the other end of the world is Arvida, a model town founded in the early 20th century by American industrialist Arthur Vining Davis. A small northern utopia of good people, compulsive liars and genuine scoundrels. In Arvida, people tell stories of nights in the forest and difficult mornings. Sad stories, funny stories, horrible stories... stories that are often all three, memorable for their profound authenticity even though they are all half untrue and half invented.

Samuel Archibald reveals himself to be cast in the same mould as a Cormac McCarthy obsessed with Proust, an heir to Anne Hébert who's read too much Jim Thompson and Stephen King.

Le complexe de Trafalgar

Didier Leclair

Psychothérapeute à Toronto, Victor Boudreau fréquente le gratin de la ville avec son épouse Helen.

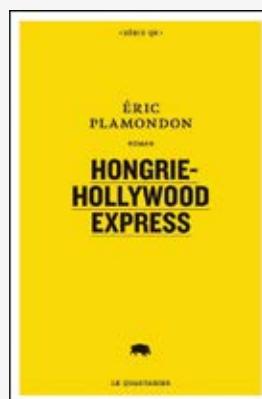

Ce Franco-Ontarien est l'auteur d'une thèse à propos de l'impact, sur la psyché canadienne, du référendum québécois de 1995. Sa rencontre avec Eva Thompson, jeune animatrice de radio dont il admire la fibre militante, lui fait réaliser combien la réussite sociale a pris le pas sur ses propres idéaux.

Tandis que son couple vacille, il va jusqu'à se demander si le fait d'avoir épousé une anglophone ne l'a pas coupé de ses racines. Tout en apaisant l'angoisse et le mal de vivre de ses patients, le thérapeute se sent gagné à son tour par l'anxiété et le doute.

Hongrie-Hollywood Express

Éric Plamondon

When Gabriel Rivages tells the story of Johnny Weissmuller's life (1904-1984), the American patchwork comes alive, from sporting feats to the literary underground, cinematic glory to obscure decay. Burroughs sells pencil sharpeners, Einstein comes across a squirrel hunter, people play golf in Cuba, JFK becomes an airport, a swimmer breaks the world record in the 100 m freestyle, Tarzan saves Jane, a crooked accountant makes off with the till, World War II makes waves on Lake Michigan and a living legend ends up seating tables in a Las Vegas restaurant.

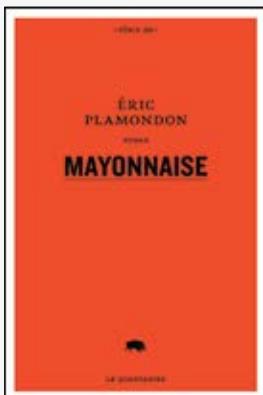

Hongrie-Hollywood Express is the first book in the 1984 trilogy.

Mayonnaise

Eric Plamondon

Here, the destinies of Gabriel Rivages and Richard Brautigan intertwine, as Rivages sets off to find the writer who changed his life. Following the traces of the man known as the last of the beatniks, Rivages heads down the American West Coast: from Oregon where Brautigan grew up to San Francisco where he became a writer. It's the personal story and the bigger picture. The man who sold his poems on the corner of Haight-Ashbury and North Beach became famous. For years, poetry saved him. In October 1984, in his home in Bolinas, he put a bullet in his brain. There's always a surprise ending to a Brautigan story.

Mayonnaise is the second book in the 1984 trilogy.

Texas

Claudio Gaudio

A diplomat is captured in a country with some resemblance to an occupied Middle-Eastern nation, but the country is never named. He has been captured by supposed insurgents, is condemned to death and is waiting in a room for his execution. His thoughts and the interior landscapes he occupies comprise the narrative. This unnamed narrator has only the time left to him.

Texas is a provocative story of death against the backdrop of an ugly and uncompromising politics. It is also a meditation on empire, imperialism and American hegemony. Texas is a challenging work, but one that should find a ready audience, especially in the United States.

7 Generations

A Plains Cree Saga

David Alexander Robertson
Illustrations Scott B. Henderson

7 Generations: A Plains Cree Saga follows one Plains Cree family from the early 19th century to the present day. Edwin, a troubled teenager, is facing an uncertain future. Only by learning about his family's past – wars, the smallpox epidemic, a residential school – will he be able to face the present and embrace the future.

The 7 Generations series is available in one book, and the illustrations are in vivid colour. 7 Generations: A Plains Cree Saga includes the four graphic novels: Stone, Scars, Ends/Begins, and The Pact.

Sugar Falls

A Residential School Story

David Alexander Robertson
Illustrations Scott B. Henderson

A school assignment to interview a residential school survivor leads Daniel to Betsy, his friend's grandmother, who tells Daniel her story. Abandoned in the dead of winter as a young child, Betsy was rescued and adopted into a loving family. A few short years later, at the age of 8, everything changed. Betsy was taken away to a residential school. There she was forced to endure abuse and indignity, but Betsy recalled the words her father spoke to her at Sugar Falls – words that gave her the resilience, strength, and determination to survive.

Based on a true story.

EDUCATION ÉDUCATION

Attention-Grabbing Tools

for involving parents in their children's learning

Jane Baskwill

In this age of cell phones and social media, of sound bites and video, the definition of communication is changing rapidly. This book explores hands-on tools that range from take-home information and materials, through parent conferences and learning nights, to digital and social media. Teachers will learn new ways to establish and maintain a solid parent-teacher relationship, one that holds the child at the centre of all education decisions.

Back to Learning

How research-based classroom instruction can make the impossible possible

Les Parsons

This timely book explores and deconstructs current issues in education, including confronting bullying, taming the digital universe, and changing the troublesome trend in students' entitled attitudes toward learning and marks. It introduces three simple principles teachers can use to approach any teaching task. It offers teachers the background and strategies they need to progress from struggling to complete necessary work in an overfull curriculum to enjoying a day filled with exciting, open-ended possibilities.

Curriculum Speak

Developing English for Academic Literacy

Mary Meyers

The ultimate teacher's resource to lead students through speaking activities that improve their participation and success in classroom tasks, content comprehension and assessments. This book is so much more than just a Professional Development tool. Though it guides teachers through critical issues of language acquisition and the challenges for ELLs, this resource makes it all so easy and practical. It contains loads of reproducibles, activities and games for students to learn vocabulary, sentence intonation, discourse and text skills.

Written for grades 4-12, this resource is for all students, not just ELLs. It's best practices for all.

The English Starter Kit

The Indispensable Beginners' Program for Classroom Teachers, Tutors or Volunteers

Mary Meyers

The English Starter Kit is an amazing resource for any teacher of English Language Learners in any country. The book is geared to grade K-8 students who are starting their first year of English. Although this resource provides a stand-alone course, it would also supplement any other publisher's English as a Foreign Language Elementary program.

This revised edition bridges pedagogy to best practices in a very user-friendly fashion while guiding instruction and providing multiple learning activities for each topic. The worksheets are based on high-frequency words and are sequenced from easy, teacher-directed lessons to more challenging tasks.

La guerre des écoles

Entre transmission et construction des connaissances

Gérald Boutin

Le domaine de l'éducation est aujourd'hui plus que jamais traversé par deux courants de pensée adverses : d'un côté, l'École traditionnelle, de l'autre, l'École nouvelle. Conservateurs et novateurs, ces derniers souvent qualifiés de pédagogistes, se livrent un combat perpétuel. Pour les premiers, l'école a pour mission de transmettre des connaissances; pour les seconds, d'accompagner l'élève dans la construction de ses savoirs. Mais qu'en est-il véritablement? Peut-on trancher de façon radicale entre ces positions? Peut-on se contenter d'un statu quo qui s'opposerait à tout changement, si pertinent soit-il?

Language Buddies

A Program of Support for Language Acquisition and Literacy in Schools

Mary Meyers

Take a gargantuan step up from "reading" buddies and you will get an idea of the scope of the Language Buddies program. Developed for schools in multi-ethnic, multi-linguistic communities, this wonderful resource is geared to improving language learning, literacy and classroom content for "all" students across all grade levels, JK-8.

With Language Buddies, talking is essential to the task, as an older student guides the task for 3-4 students. Teachers can prescribe the activity for language learning, skill remediation or content consolidation. This reference is great as a teacher-training tool as well.

Reproducibles included.

The Stickman Reader

Basic Verbs

Mary Meyers

This book is comprised of appealing, full-page labeled illustrations of Stickman, who demonstrates action verbs. The pictures are sequenced in a story of daily activities and promote speech in context. This "listen and say" method is easy for anyone to use and includes instructions for teachers, tutors or parents. The verb pictures can be enlarged for posters or minimized for individual student booklets.

"The Stickman Reader is very beneficial for my grade 5 beginning ESL students. The pictures are delightful and students enjoy learning them. The book is easy to use and can be given to a teacher assistant to use with little supervision or explanation." —Chris Graham, ESL teacher, Manitoba

Teaching to Diversity

Teaching and Learning in the Multi-Ethnic Classroom

Mary Meyers

Award-winning, innovative, practical, this book has been called "the Bible" by TESL Consultants.

The author draws on extensive research on first and second language acquisition, and her own years as an ESL and classroom teacher and her work with Refugee families. She examines language learning approaches and "best practices" as well as ESL instruction in regular classrooms, K-8.

Teaching to Diversity's wide range of applicability makes it an invaluable resource for classroom teachers as well as those planning and delivering in-service to teachers.

Teaching to Diversity

The Three-Block Model of Universal Design for Learning

Jennifer Katz

Jennifer Katz reviews the research on inclusive education and outlines her three-block model of universal design for learning (UDL). This model (creating compassionate learning communities, collaborating on inclusive instructional best practices, and modifying educational systems and structures) focuses on supporting diverse learners. The author developed the highly beneficial model during her 16-plus years of teaching in inclusive classrooms. Teaching to Diversity is, ultimately, about creating classrooms and schools that teach to the heart, mind, and spirit of every student.

Two Bicycles

The Work of Jean-Luc Godard and Anne-Marie Miéville

Jerry White

Two Bicycles examines the films, videos, and television works that Godard and Miéville made together, moving slowly across France and Switzerland, with detours in Quebec, Mozambique, and Palestine. Their amazingly varied body of work includes a 12-hour television series, some experimental videos, an acclaimed feature film with Isabelle Huppert, a cigarette commercial, and much else. The author shows the degree to which this work departs radically from the legacy of the French New Wave, and in many ways shows signs of having been formed by the distinct culture of Switzerland, to which Godard and Miéville returned in the 1970s to set up their "atelier," Sonimage.

Whose Trees Are These?

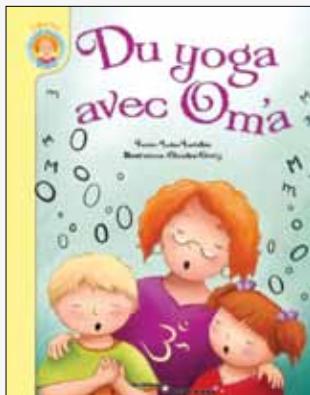

Erna Michalow
Illustrations Erna Michalow

Have you ever wondered about the role of trees in nature and their relationship to the rest of the environment? The author weaves the story's other main characters – the sun, rock, earth, water, air, fire, animals and people – into scenic treed landscapes and brings them all to life through the use of lyrical prose. Each character in turn claims ownership of the trees, but the trees have the final say. Scientific details in both the text and illustrations depict the natural beauty of our world. Realistic, brightly coloured illustrations enhance this unique story, composed entirely of dialogue.

Cet album s'inspire du film La légende de Sarila, le premier long métrage d'animation 3D au Québec. Il permet de revivre l'aventure de Markussi dans le Grand Nord grâce à une série d'illustrations vives et colorées. Depuis trois lunes, les chasseurs reviennent bredouilles de leurs excursions. Sur la banquise, c'est la désolation. Les animaux ont disparu, et la famine guette le clan inuit. Leur seul espoir de survie réside dans une quête insensée: retrouver la terre mythique de Sarila, réputée pour son abondance. Pour y parvenir, Markussi et ses amis devront surmonter bien des dangers. Un texte simple et accessible avec près de 50 illustrations en couleurs. Une aventure pour toute la famille.

Le défi nordique

Diane Groulx

Julien, qui habite maintenant au Nunavik, découvre la culture et la langue des Inuit en compagnie de son nouvel ami Noah. Un jour, les deux garçons se lancent un défi : survivre sur la toundra, comme l'ont fait les Inuit pendant des siècles. Ils partent à l'aventure sans se douter un instant que c'est la toundra qui déterminera lequel des deux remportera le défi.

Julien, who now lives in Nunavik, learns about the culture and the Inuit's language with his new friend Noah. One day, the boys challenge each other to see who can survive on the tundra, living like the Inuit used to during centuries. They go off on their adventure, but they don't know that it's the tundra that will determine who will be the winner.

L'envahi'sœur

Camille et cie, vol. 1

Sophie Laroche
Illustrations Marie Olé

The new Camille & Co. series stars a ten-year-old girl as witty as she is charming. Camille relates her adventures with verve!

In Book 1, L'envahi'sœur, Camille meets Jeanne, the daughter of Camille's mother's new beau, a teenager of the worst stripe: she respects nothing, thinks she knows everything, and complains ceaselessly. Camille nicknames her Drucilla, after Cinderella's vile step-sister. But Camille and Jeanne put aside their differences and concoct an infallible plan to... get rid of each other forever!

In Book 2, Le papillon, Camille helps her best friend Raphaëlle find out who her "biochemical" father is...

A bestseller series. Each book is unique and can be read by itself.

La Renaissance

Daniel L. Moisan
Illustrations Jean-Nicolas Nadeau

The year is 1519. Humanity, having just emerged from the Middle Ages, is enjoying a renaissance. It is the dawn of a new world, born of science and an incredible thirst for learning. But can everything be explained by science? Even an obscure prophecy? "Misfortune arrives from overseas, bearing the beast and the sum of human knowledge. It will bring down the dark temple on the sixth hour of the sixth day, the day of the equinox."

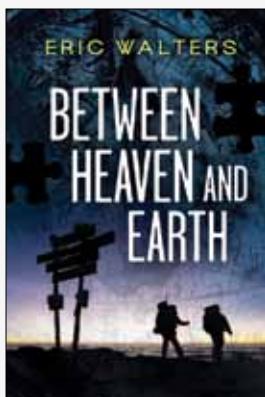

Pursued by his own people, Djanganorata will change the world forever when he sets foot in the city of Venice. Who would have thought that this little aboriginal would influence the course of history and be the origin of one of the strangest stories ever told?

Let the adventure begin!

Françoise la folle

David Cameron
Illustrations Adrien Deggan

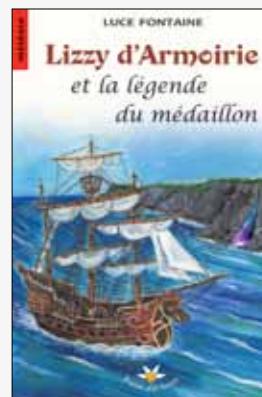

This is a touching story about an intergenerational relationship between a young girl and a very old woman who lives in a dump. Françoise teaches Anne many lessons through this story, including a sense of responsibility for others, kindness, love and friendship. She teaches Anne that people are not always what they appear to be on the outside.

This story is sure to capture your students' hearts. It is the first in our series of short novels for adolescents in the series La lecture en ACTION.

Lizzy d'Armoire et la légende du médaillon

Luce Fontaine

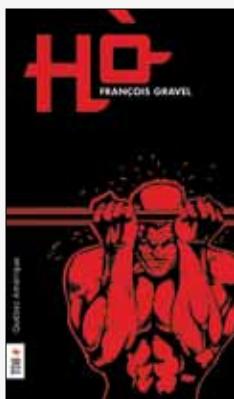

Il y a très longtemps, dans un monde parallèle, la Grande Gouverneure-Commodore de l'Armoire a perdu dans la mer un précieux médaillon. Il permettait de passer du Monde Parallèle au Monde Matériel. Des siècles plus tard, Éléna, une jeune québécoise en vacances avec sa famille à Bouctouche, en Acadie, trouve le mystérieux bijou sur la plage. Inspirée par les légendes locales, Éléna essaie de retracer l'origine du médaillon. Son chemin croisera-t-il celui de Lizzy? La jeune québécoise va de découvertes en découvertes sur fond d'histoire naturelle, d'amour naissant et de jalouse.

Récit d'aventures où le fantastique se confond avec la réalité et où l'amitié triomphe sur la trahison.

François Gravel

Roman cru et brutal sur l'haltérophilie, sur le dépassement physique et mental, mais surtout sur l'oppression, François Gravel nous entretient sans compromis d'endoctrinement. Plus encore qu'au cœur du sport et de la compétition, c'est dans une société asiatique tyrannique misant sur un perfectionnisme malsain que l'auteur nous plonge avec ce roman.

Dans un pays qui n'est jamais identifié, un jeune haltérophile livre le récit succinct, dur et bouleversant de sa trop courte vie. Par le biais de notes en bas de pages et d'un récit complémentaire, sa femme – car le jeune homme fut marié de 13 à 16 ans – rétablit la vérité.

Le journal de guerre d'Emilio

André Jacob
Illustrations Christine Delezenne

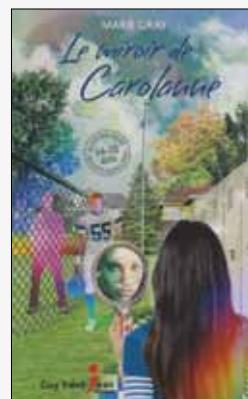

Pour Emilio, le cauchemar a commencé l'après-midi où sept soldats armés ont fait irruption dans sa classe pour emmener avec eux les élèves âgés de plus de dix ans. La suite est une longue série de marches forcées dans l'humidité épaisse de la jungle, d'entraînements intensifs, de violence, de fuite, de peur, d'inquiétude et surtout d'oubli de soi pour survivre dans ces conditions effroyables. Arme au poing, Emilio a arpентé la jungle en compagnie de ses frères et sœurs de combat pendant deux ans avant de tomber sous les balles lors d'un affrontement.

Le miroir de Carolanne

Marie Gray

Carolanne is a successful girl. When a rumour about her boyfriend and a friend of hers starts going around, Carolanne decides to get revenge. As things gets out of control, the teenage girl realizes that maybe her world is not so perfect after all... A captivating story about intimidation and homosexuality, from a totally different point of view.

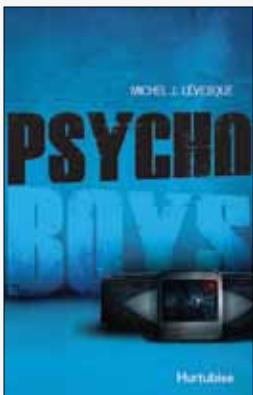

This novel is a fascinating story exploring controversial subjects objectively and realistically. True-to-life writing style and characters let any teenagers identify with it. Professionals, parents and teenagers have unanimously acclaimed the series and are anxiously awaiting the next story.

Psycho Boys

Michel J. Lévesque

They are twins, aged 18, and totally unalike. Sydney and Ashley have one thing in common: fascination with a young gang of “villains / psycho boys,” so-called because they are from the “Patecal” generation. Patecal, a drug launched 20 years earlier to reduce the risk of miscarriage, was responsible for the birth of “soulless” human beings, a generation of psychopaths. Though most of them are registered, some are still on the loose, notably the infamous Winter Craine. Now the sisters’ father, whose job is to capture these dangerous predators, has Winter in his grip, and decides to hold him captive in the family home.

Love, suspense, and the fight between good and evil are at the heart of this dark fantasy trilogy for young adults.

Savannah

En péril

Sylvie Payette

Savannah focuses on the adventures of a 17-year-old girl from Quebec whose life is changed during a trip to Paris. There she finds an ancient manuscript from the eighteenth century which contains a secret code that is coveted and searched for by treasure hunters. Savannah must become an adventurer and immerse herself completely in history in order to understand the document. From knights to the witches of Salem, passing through England and ending in the forests of Quebec, Savannah finds love while being tracked down. She has no choice but to travel this road in order to discover the meaning of life.
